NOTES

- 🕒 The time in brackets shown above is the approximate travelling time from Lali Jiwa to the destination.
- 🕒 You can combine into a day trip, many of the activities. Google maps is great for planning your itinerary.
- 🕒 Some activities you'll need to do via a tour company (white water rafting, bicycle tours & guided treks) whilst others (waterfalls, palaces & temples) can be done yourself.
- 🕒 Consider hiring a scooter to visit sites - it's great fun. We did it with children aged 12 & 14 and felt safe.
- 🕒 Being Bali, you need to expect crowds at many places.
- 🕒 Bali is a relatively small island at 153 km by 112km, but it's slow going getting around. Mainly because it's all narrow, single lane roads and there's lots of traffic - making the average speed about 40 km/h.
- 🕒 Keeping in mind travelling times, when planning a day out, get up early to make the most of the available daylight, the sun sets at 6.30pm.
- 🕒 Even if you're in a car for 90 minutes, the trip will be interesting, ever changing and educational - and you'll most likely want to stop unexpectedly because of something you've seen or for a great photo.
- 🕒 Though the journey to your destination will be exciting, we've found that anything beyond two hours might make you feel a bit weary on arrival. But it won't take long to freshen up.
- 🕒 To help the locals, you'll pay a small fee at all the natural attractions, e.g. waterfalls and beaches etc.
- 🕒 On a booked tour, you'll need to be at your destination at a set time. All the operators will include a pick up from the Villa in the price, but that will be combined with them picking up lots of other people along the way, meaning you'll spend much more time in the car. So you could hire Oka to drive you there and back, which has some advantages:
 - you'll get lots of interesting information,
 - he'll make sure you adhere to cultural must-dos
 - you'll have flexibility to see other places on the way and when heading back,
 - it will just be your people in the car, and
 - Oka can quite often get you a better price than is advertised because he can negotiate.
- 🕒 Hiring Oka is definitely best if your day includes visiting sites such as waterfalls, temples, water palaces and rice fields. For example, if you visited a temple, 2 waterfalls and a water palace, the total cost for entrance fees and hiring Oka will be about US$100 in total for 2 adults and 2 children. If you did the same through a tour operator, it would cost you about US$300 in total.
- 🕒 Oka's fees including the car and fuel - half day US$30, full day US$50, airport pick up or drop off US$50
- 🕒 Take a back pack that has drinks and snacks. Or you can buy these at many locations.
- 🕒 Cash is definitely king in Bali. Just take enough cash to get you through the day and maybe for that unexpected purchase or side trip.
- 🕒 In the tourist areas, you'll see many, persistent hawkers. It's best to ignore them and avoid eye contact.
